Privacy Policy

Purpose

The purpose of this privacy statement is to let users of this webapp know when we collect personal information and what we may do with it. We don't use, share or disclose personal information collected or received through this website except as set out in this statement.

Changing your personal information

You have the right to view and change any personal information we hold about you at any time.

You can contact TrapScan by emailing team@trapscan.app to get changed actioned

Disclosing your personal information

We will not sell or rent your personal information to any third party.

Project administrators can see the name of any member who has joined their project.

TrapScan

Introduced mammalian pests remain an ongoing predatory risk to New Zealand's native wildlife. People around the country are targeting these pests through the use of trapping. TrapScan is being implemented by Kurtis Papple and company as a way of helping more people get involved, to help record the results of their work, and to coordinate with each other easier.

TrapScan records the who did action and the outcome, so that insights can be drawn and members of trapping groups can be managed. To do this, you will need to provide information. This is required for you to use the full functionality of the application. If you do not want to provide your information, you have the option to use the application in it's limited, "no login required" form to let other trappers know if you see that a trap has caught something.

Trap.NZ integration

Data collected from you using TrapScan will be passed onto Trap.NZ, the national database for trapping in New Zealand. This is so there is a single source of truth for trapping records.

Below, we explain what your information is being used for:

Information	Why TrapScan needs this information
Who are you?- Full name	So that we can refer to you by your name, and so that other users can see who performed which actions.This information will be shared with Trap.NZ when we upload trap check records to their database in a 'recorded by' fieldThis information may be requested upon creation of an email-based account, or shared with us from your Facebook sign in, Google sign in or Apple ID if you choose to use those authentication services to log in.
How can we reach you?- Contact email	We need this information to authenticate your account, to contact you if you opt into any notifications, and if needed it will be used to help contact you if we need to know anything from you in relation to your use of the app or involvement in trapping.This information may be collected during creation of an email-based account, or shared with us from your Facebook sign in, Google sign in or Apple ID if you choose to use those authentication services to log in.

Information	Why TrapScan needs this information
What actions did you perform and what were the outcomes?- Scans- Catches- Species caught- Bait used- Issues reported- What trap you serviced- Project you belong to	We need this information to analyse the collective work and results of trappers in trapping groups and across New Zealand.This information will usually be viewed in an aggregate format with other users, so will not identify you personally. However, people may view your profile and see the work that you have done and the results which would identify you personally, as they will be able to see the 'Full name' of your account against your records.

Holding of information

When you provide personal information, unless otherwise indicated, it will be held by us. It may be stored or accessed by us to the extent that is necessary, for example for them to respond to your query or investigate a technical. We will store and keep your personal information secure in accordance with the Privacy Act 2020 and any agents will be subject to our information security and privacy requirements.

Use of personal information

We will only use personal information provided to us through this webapp for the purpose you provided it (eg, to administer, evaluate and improve the site, to improve our services, or to action or respond to the information provided). We may also use personal information provided to us through this website for other reasons permitted under the Privacy Act (eg, with your consent, for a directly related purpose, or where the law permits or requires it).

The data you submit and your personal information may also be shared with Predator Free 2050, Predator Free NZ, the Department of Conservation and other conservation-focused agencies with your consent.

Disclosure of information

We will generally not share personal information that is provided or collected through this website, unless it is necessary to do so for the purpose for which you gave us the information (eg, to investigate a complaint) or where you consent. We will not otherwise disclose personal information provided or collected through this website unless required or otherwise permitted by law.

Records and retention of personal information

We will only retain personal information as long as it is required for the purposes for which the information may lawfully be used.

Public records

Where any information (which may include personal information) provided to, or through, this website constitutes public records, it will be retained to the extent required by the Public Records Act 2005.

Security

Our websites have security measures in place to prevent the loss, misuse and alteration of information under our control. To maintain the cyber security of our systems and information, our systems are subject to ongoing monitoring (including activity logging), analysis and auditing.

We may use information about your use of our websites and other IT systems to prevent unauthorised access or attacks on these systems or to resolve such events. We may use this information even if you are not involved in such activity.

We may use services from one or more third party suppliers to monitor or maintain the cyber security of our systems and information. These third party suppliers will have access to monitoring and logging information as well as information processed on our websites and other IT systems.

Rights of access and correction

You have the right to:

- find out from us whether we hold personal information about you

- access that information; and, if applicable

- request corrections of that information

If we have a good reason for refusing a request for correction, you are entitled to request that a statement be attached to the information of the correction that was sought but not made.

If you want to check personal information that we hold, please email team@trapscan.app

Collecting statistical information using cookies

We may use cookies to gather data about trends in website usage. This data will be viewable by website administrators and certain other staff. It may also be shared with other government or conservation agencies. This information is aggregated and it does not identify you personally.

Cookies

Browser or 'web' cookies are small text files that are sent by a website and stored on your computer's hard drive to collect information about how you browse the website.

Cookies are used to:

- measure how you use the website so it can be updated and improved based on your needs

- remember the notifications you've seen so that we don't show them to you again

You can manually disable cookies at any time. Check your browser's 'Help' to find out how (disabling cookies will not affect your ability to use this website).

Data collected may include:

- your IP address
- the search terms you used on this site
- the pages you accessed on this site and the links you clicked on
- the date and time you visited this site
- the referring site (if any) from which you clicked to reach this site
- the device you used to access this site
- your operating system (eg, Windows 10, Mac OS X)
- the type of web browser you used to access this site (eg, Microsoft Edge, Google Chrome)
- other things like your screen resolution, the release of your installed Flash version and the language setting of your browser.